

TELEWORKING FROM ANYWHERE A COMPARISON OF PROPOSALS

GENERATION
2004's facts

VERSUS

OTHERS'S
copycat
fiction

In November 2020 Generation 2004 proposed 60 days per year of Teleworking From Anywhere (TWA) in batches of a limited number of days per month but without specifying a number nor linking it to annual leave.

60 = 60

In May 2021 Generation 2004 enhanced its proposal with a request for the assurance that TWA is allowed in case of force majeure (pandemics, natural disasters, civil wars, etc)

Generation 2004 also asked for special TWA for ad-hoc needs like:

- health issues,
- family needs,
- training,
- pre-retirement,
- etc.

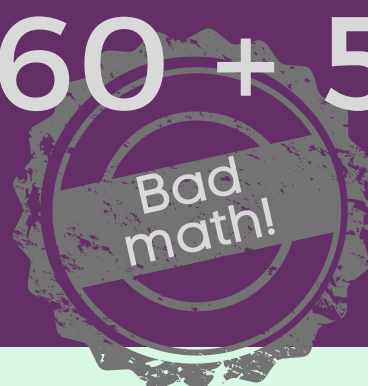

10 months later, in September 2021 (just before elections) others proposed 60 days per year of TWA with a limit of 5 days per month.

They also proposed 5 additional working days combined with annual leave... that you cannot use since 60 days is 5 days (the maximum per month) times 12 months...

60 + 5 = 60

Others, surely eager to please the administration, support the current ludicrous HR offer of 10 days per year linked to leave.

Finally, one of the largest lists seems not to care and didn't propose anything...
