Subject: Scholarship Offer for Master in European Economic Governance and Policy (MEEGP) for Members of Generation 2004

Introduction

The European Institute of Management and Finance (EIMF) is an accredited higher education institution in Cyprus specialising in governance, finance, financial regulation, compliance, public policy and executive education.

Recognising the important role of Generation 2004 in representing staff across the European Union, EIMF is pleased to offer a dedicated scholarship scheme for eligible Generation 2004 members who wish to pursue postgraduate studies in European economic governance and public policy.

This is a scholarship offer made by EIMF to Generation 2004 members. It does not require the establishment of a formal cooperation or partnership agreement between EIMF and Generation 2004.

Master in European Economic Governance and Policy (MEEGP)

The scholarship scheme applies exclusively to the EIMF Master Programme in European Economic Governance and Policy, delivered in English through distance learning. The programme is designed for professionals seeking a deeper understanding of European institutions, economic governance, public policy, financial regulation and the wider political economy of European integration.

Scholarship Offer

Award	Number	Tuition Coverage
Full Scholarship	1	100% of tuition fees (€10,500)
Partial Scholarship	4	50% of tuition fees (€5,250)

Accordingly, EIMF will offer one (1) full scholarship and four (4) 50% scholarships to eligible Generation 2004 members. Scholarships are awarded on a competitive basis and remain subject to EIMF's academic regulations, admissions requirements and scholarship selection procedures.

Eligibility

Applicants must:

- be a member of Generation 2004 or one of its member organisations;
- meet the admission requirements of the Master in European Economic Governance and Policy;
- hold a recognised Bachelor's degree or equivalent qualification;
- demonstrate a good command of the English language; and
- submit all information and supporting documentation required by EIMF within the applicable deadlines.

Scholarship Selection Criteria

Eligible applications will be assessed competitively by the competent EIMF committee, taking into account:

- academic qualifications and academic performance;
- professional qualifications;
- relevant professional experience;
- motivation and the quality of the applicant's personal statement or cover letter;
- relevance of the programme to the applicant's current role and future professional development;
- leadership potential and prospective contribution in European or international public service; and
- overall performance at interview, where an interview is considered necessary.

Application and Selection Process

- Interested Generation 2004 members submit an application for admission to the Master Programme through EIMF's standard application procedure by 20th January 2027.
- Applicants indicate that they are applying under the dedicated Generation 2004 scholarship scheme and provide evidence of their Generation 2004 membership where requested.
- EIMF reviews each application first for academic eligibility and completeness.
- Eligible scholarship applications are assessed separately by the competent EIMF committee against the published selection criteria.
- EIMF may shortlist applicants and invite them to an interview where this is considered necessary.
- The final decision on admission and scholarship awards rests with EIMF.
- The eligible candidates will be notified by 1st February 2027.

Terms and Conditions

1. The scholarships apply only to the Master in European Economic Governance and Policy and to the intake specified by EIMF.
2. The full scholarship covers 100% of tuition fees (€10,500). Each 50% scholarship covers €5,250 of the programme's tuition fees.
3. The non-refundable application fee of €50 and the registration fee of €200 are not covered by the scholarship and remain payable in accordance with EIMF procedures.
4. Submission of an application does not automatically guarantee admission to the programme or the award of a scholarship.
5. Incomplete or late applications may not be considered.
6. Scholarships are personal and non-transferable, cannot be exchanged for cash, and cannot be transferred to another person or intake unless expressly approved by EIMF.
7. Scholarships may not be combined with another EIMF scholarship, discount or special financial arrangement unless expressly approved by EIMF.
8. Scholarship recipients are expected to maintain satisfactory academic progress throughout their studies.
9. EIMF retains responsibility for all admission and scholarship decisions and reserves the right to amend the scholarship scheme, deadlines, criteria or terms where necessary.

Communication of the Opportunity

EIMF would welcome Generation 2004 communicating this scholarship opportunity to its members and member organisations through its usual communication channels. EIMF can provide the necessary programme information, promotional material and application guidance. No financial contribution or other commitment is requested from Generation 2004.

Closing

EIMF believes that this scholarship scheme can provide a valuable professional development opportunity for members working across the European public service, while strengthening their knowledge of European economic governance, policymaking and regulation. We would be pleased to provide any further information required and coordinate with Generation 2004 to communicate the scholarship opportunity to its members.

Yours sincerely,

Adonis Pegasiou (PhD)

Academic Director, EIMF
